

Change The World

Words & Music by Erika Paul
From the cd entitled, "Adolescent Drama"

He can change the world
His seed can change the world

If we try
To reach up high
And never ask why

We can change the world
A seed can change the world

We can change the world
Our seeds can change the world

Can we agree?
To plant the seed
Together we can be freed

We can change the world
A seed can change the world

We can change the world, a seed can change the world (repeat and fade)

Optional improvised vocal solo over the top:

The sins of your father aren't your destiny
They can always be turned around
The child in me will make a difference in the world
His father never really got the chance
Cut off too soon before his prime
Now his son will carry on in time
This child in me will change the world
